

BOYDEN'S TIM MCNAMARA NAMED TO BUSINESSWEEK'S WORLD'S MOST INFLUENTIAL HEADHUNTERS

Washington, DC — Boyden search professional Tim McNamara has been named to the latest edition of BusinessWeek's World's Most Influential Headhunters. Mr. McNamara is a Managing Director of Boyden, a global leader in executive search with more than 70 offices in 40 countries.

The firm was represented with a total of seven Boyden leaders named to the list, as part of the publication's launch of its exclusive database and management sections. BusinessWeek considered a number of factors in selecting the most influential executive recruiters, including their individual reputations; their years of headhunting experience; the global scope of their recruiting practices; their accessibility and responsiveness; their high visibility within the client markets they serve; the recognition they enjoy within their firms and/or global executive search communities.

"Boyden is honored by BusinessWeek's recognition of our market leaders," said Trina Gordon, Chairman of Boyden World Corporation and Managing Director, Boyden Chicago. "Client service, quality, and world class execution are paramount to our firm's success. We're proud that Tim's dedication, reputation and results have been acknowledged along with the world's best in class."

Mr. McNamara leads Boyden's Washington, DC office and heads the firm's Aerospace, Defense, and Intelligence and Government and Public Sector practice groups. He is also cofounder of Boyden's Risk Management/Security practice and serves as a member of the firm's Board Services practice. Earlier this year, Mr. McNamara was appointed to the World Security Standing Committee for Airports Council International, the only global trade association for member airports and other partners in world aviation.

A search professional with more than 20 years of experience, Mr. McNamara has placed CEOs and other senior executives with clients including KPMG Corporate Finance, GE Commercial Finance, and The World Bank Group. His search consulting career began with Booz Allen Hamilton, where he was part of the practice group advising U.S. and foreign governments and multi-national organizations. To review BusinessWeek's profile for Tim McNamara, please click on the link below:

http://www.businessweek.com/managing/content/apr2008/ca20080424_390973.htm

To review the complete list, including all seven Boyden leaders spanning across US, Europe, and Asia, click on the link below.

http://www.businessweek.com/managing/content/jan2008/ca20080131_474239.htm?chan=careers_special+report+--+worlds+most+influential+headhunters_world%27s+most+influential+headhunters

About Boyden World Corporation

Boyden is a global leader in the executive search industry with more than 70 offices in 40 countries. Founded in 1946, Boyden specializes in high level executive search, Interim Management and Human Capital consulting across a broad spectrum of industries. For further information, visit the firm's website at www.boyden.com.